Large Number Enemy Troops Taken On 4th As Fitting Celebration

BRITISH FORCES IN SOMME SECTOR, IN ADDITION TO CAPTURING 1300 GERMANS, ALSO TAKE 100 MACHINE GUNS AND NUMBER OF TRENCH MORTARS.

ALLIES CONTINUE TO GAIN GROUND ON THE WESTERN FRONT AND GIVE HUNS A DRUBBING

Counter Attack Made By Huns Last Night on the Amiens Front, East of the Village of Hamel, Was Repulsed With Loss to the Enemy, Who Also Suffered Repulse in a Raid on the Flanders Front—French Raiding Detachments Also Take a Number of Prisoners—Quiet Reigned On Sectors Occupied by American Troops.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

London, July 5.—More than 1,300 prisoners were taken by the British forces in yesterday's operation in the Somme area. In addition 100 machine guns and a number of trench mortars were captured.

The Germans last night delivered a counter-attack upon the new positions gained by the British on the Amiens front, to the east of the village of Hamel. The war office announced today that the enemy had been repulsed in this attempt and left prisoners in the British hands.

The text of the statement reads: "The total number of prisoners taken by us in yesterday's successful operations on the Somme exceeds 1,300. One German field gun, in addition to over 100 machine guns and a number of trench mortars have so far been counted."

A hostile attack against our new position east of Hamel last night was easily repulsed. A few prisoners were left in our hands.

A successful raid was carried out by us in the Beaumont-Hamel sector. An attempted hostile raid in the neighborhood of Strzele (Flanders front) was repulsed.

FRENCH PATROLS ACTIVE.
(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Paris, July 5.—French patrol parties were active last night in many sectors of the front from Picardy to Lorraine, according to today's war office report. Prisoners were taken by the numerous raiding detachments.

The statement reads: "French patrol detachments, operating between Mondidier and the Oise, in the Champagne, on the right bank of the Meuse (Verdun region) and in Lorraine, took prisoners."

ON AMERICAN FRONT.
(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

With the American Army in France, Thursday, July 4.—The Fourth of July was an unusually quiet day in the normally hectic sectors occupied by American troops from the Vosges to the Swiss border. Even the artillery and air services were less busy than usual, cloudy weather and poor visibility hampering them.

WITH AMERICAN ARMY.
ALLIES MAKE BIG GAIN ON THE BRITISH FRONT.
(Compiled from A. P. dispatches.)

Harassing of the German lines in the west shows no signs of letting up and the allies continue to gain ground here and there and bring in large batches of German prisoners.

The game of striking the enemy a solid blow on a small sector now has been taken on the British front and an advance of a mile and a half and a width of four miles with the capture of 1500 prisoners, south of the Somme, testifies to the hitting powers of the Australians, aided by American detachments. German efforts to hold the attacking Austral-

PROPOSE TO FIGHT FOR A CHANGE IN PROHIBITION BILL
(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Washington, July 5.—Prohibition advocates in the senate planned today to seek changes in the pending Norris amendment to the emergency agricultural appropriation bill so as to prohibit the sale of whiskey, beer or wine after six months.

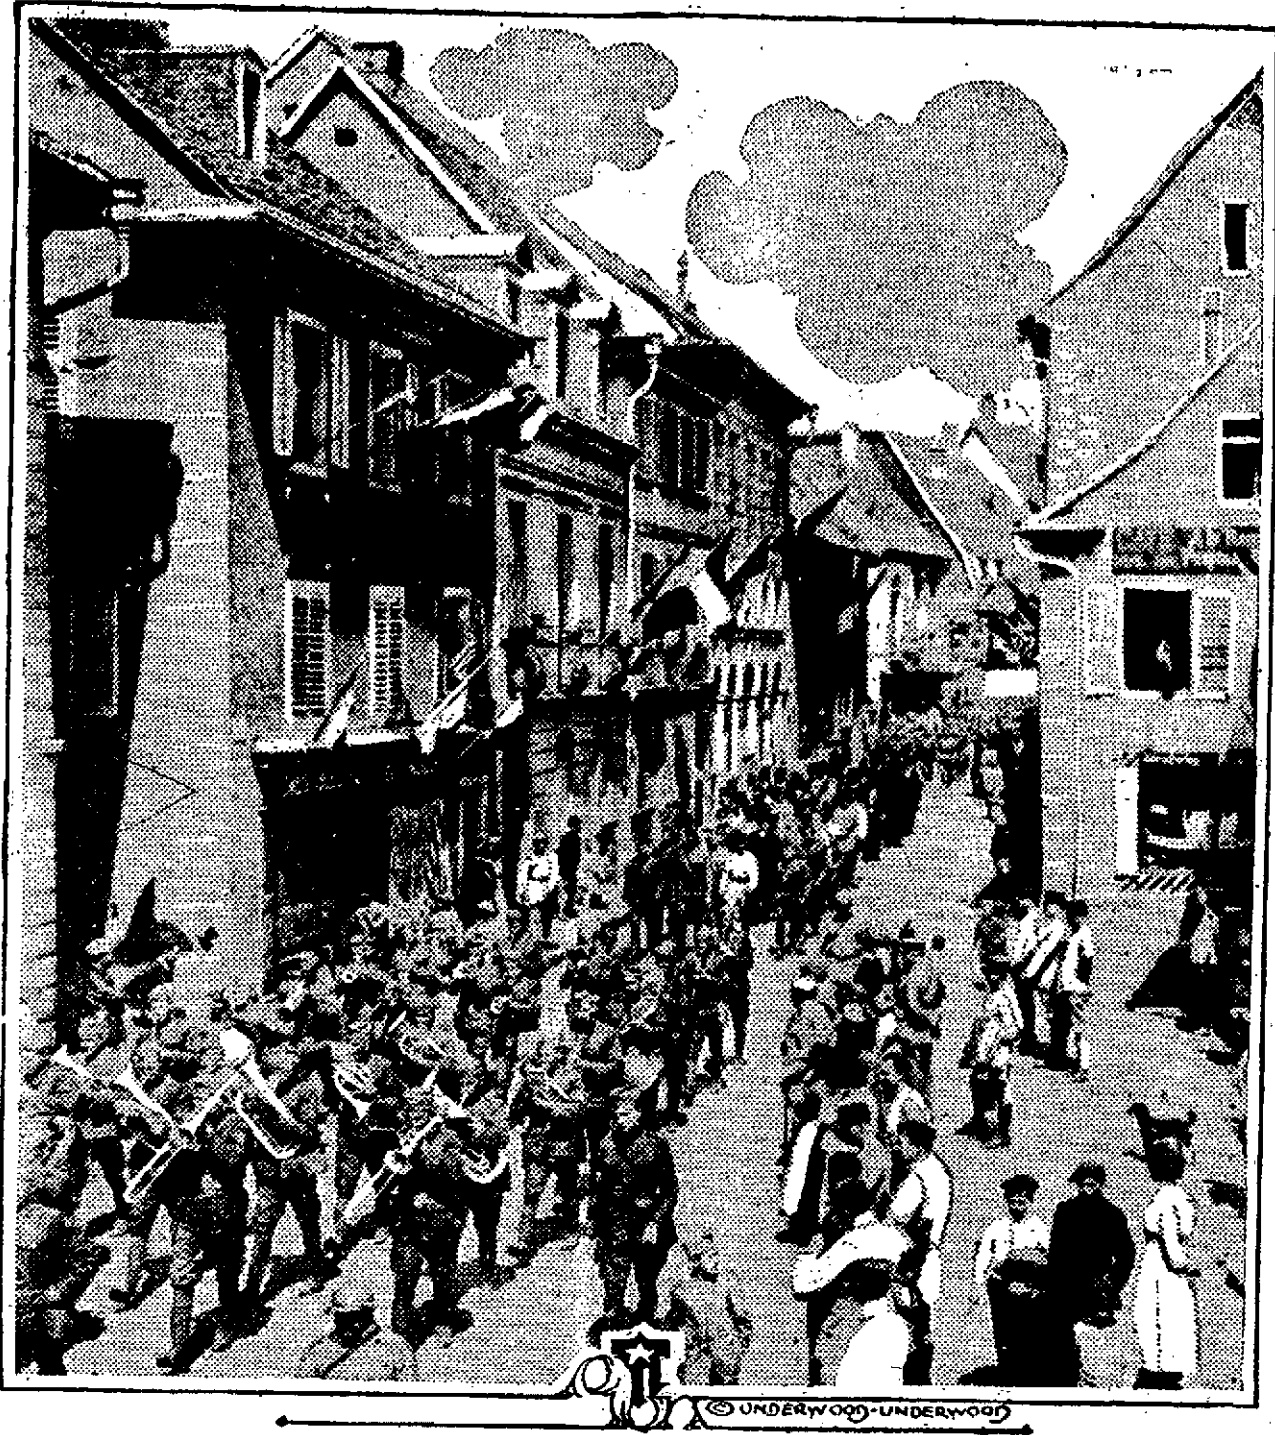

As reported to the senate the Norris amendment prohibits the manufacture of wine except for export after June 30, 1919. It would forbid the manufacture of beer three months after approval of the bill by the president.

Senator Norris of Nebraska, Senator Hendricks of Wyoming and other prohibition leaders now want to make the period six months for all intoxicants. If a recess is taken tomorrow as planned they will make their fight for the change as soon as congress reconvenes.

VOTED AGAINST TREATIES.

Amsterdam, July 5.—The reichstag has passed the peace treaty and supplementary treaties with Rumania according to a Berlin dispatch. The independent socialists voted against all the treaties.

U. S. TROOPS ENTER RECAPTURED ALSACIAN TERRITORY AND HELP CELEBRATE AMERICAN HOLIDAY IN CAPITAL

American troops in Masevaux, Alsace-Lorraine.

There was great rejoicing and much celebrating in parts of the recaptured Alsace-Lorraine on Memorial day. The holiday was celebrated there as well as in America. Residents of Masevaux, the new provisional capital of the territory cheered American troops to the echo when the boys paraded the streets there behind their band. The picture shows them in Grand street. The contingent behind the band is a delegation of American and French officers and prominent citizens.

NEGRO SOLDIERS HANGED TODAY AT CAMP DODGE, IOWA

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Camp Dodge, Iowa, July 5.—Three negro soldiers, convicted by court martial of "assaulting and outraging" a 17 year old white girl on the cantonment grounds the night of May 24, were hanged here today with virtually the entire division witnessing the executions.

The three traps were sprung simultaneously at 9:09 a. m. and death was almost instantaneous. The negroes marched onto the scaffolds singing "God Have Mercy on My Soul."

The negroes were Nelson Johnson, of Tuscamba, Ala.; Stanley Trumble, of Stroud, Ala.; and Fred Allen of Georgiana, Ala., all selective service men.

Johnson and Trumble were declared by military police officials to have confessed their complete guilt, but Allen while admitting his presence when the crime was committed, maintained he had not outraged the girl.

Three negro soldiers among the spectators fainted when the men dropped to their death and another ran amuck. He started on a dead run directly toward the scaffold but guards overpowered him. A white soldier also fainted.

Four negroes were arrested the morning after the assault, which occurred shortly before midnight May 24. One suspect was acquitted when it was established that he was not near the scene of the crime.

With a young soldier escort, the girl was sitting on a hillside when, according to her story at the trial, four negroes approached. One of them, representing himself as a military policeman, struck her escort a blow on the head and in the stomach, dazing him.

The girl's screams and the alarm sounded by her escort when he recovered aroused the camp. Military police threw out a dragnet that resulted in the arrest of the men early the next morning. A summary court martial started a few days afterward but the finding of the court was not announced until yesterday, after it had been reviewed and approved by President Wilson.

Both the girl and her escort were from Des Moines.

GERMAN AIRPLANES BROUGHT DOWN BY AMERICAN AIRMEN

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

With the American Forces on the Marne front, July 5.—The American aviators on this front are reported this morning to have brought down two German airplanes a flame.

In a small patrol encounter last night two Germans were captured and another of the enemy was killed by an American detachment.

This skirmish developed the fact that another new German division is now opposing the Americans in this sector.

BOY OF SEVENTEEN IS A GOVERNMENT CONTRACTOR
(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

London, June 24.—A boy of seventeen who is a government contractor with eleven men and eight women on his payroll is one of the unusual figures of the war. The young man is Robert Scott and two years ago he was earning $7.50 a week in a machine shop. Later he and another boy formed a partnership to manufacture pins and screws.

The partner joined the army last year. Scott then invested all his savings in machinery and opened a shop for the manufacture of airplane parts and soon obtained government work.

COMMUNICATION CUT OFF.
(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Washington, July 5.—A delayed dispatch from Irkutsk dated June 28 and read at the state department today says all communication with Volodga, Moscow and several places in Western Siberia had been cut off for several days. The department's last report from Ambassador Francis at Volodga was dated June 24.

74 VESSELS WERE LAUNCHED ON THE NATION'S HOLIDAY

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Philadelphia, July 5.—Launchings of ten additional ships on the Fourth of July were reported at the Emergency Fleet corporation here today, raising the grand total to 74. Of these 42 are steel and 32 wood. The total deadweight tonnage was increased by the added ships to 400,464 of which 287,464 is steel and 113,000 wood.

Names of the wooden vessels announced today as having left the ways were not given. There were seven of them. The remaining three were of steel. They were the Western Star, a transport of 3800 tons, launched at the yards of J. F. Duthrie and Company, Seattle; the F. O. Pisk was the sponsor. From the same yard the Western Cross, a cargo carrier of 3800 tons also went overboard, Miss Florence Fraser, christening the ship. The West Galeata, another cargo carrier of 3800 tons was launched in the yards of the Los Angeles ship building company, San Pedro.

Owing to the holiday wire communications were greatly curtailed and reports were delayed. Although the offices of the fleet corporation remained open nearly all night, several yards where launching were to have taken place, were not heard from. Most of these were on the northern Pacific coast.

A telegram was received at the fleet corporation headquarters just before the offices closed or the night from the district supervisor of the eleventh district at Portland, Ore., stating that 14 additional ships were ready for launching the Fourth of July, but an unexpected freshet in the Columbia river had prevented the shipbuilders from sending them overboard. These vessels the telegram added, represented an aggregate tonnage of 50,000.

CARDINAL MARTINELLI PASSES AWAY AT ROME

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Rome, July 5.—Cardinal Sebastiano Martinelli, prefect of the Sacred Congregation of Rites and former papal delegate to the United States is dead.

Cardinal Martinelli was the second apostolic delegate to the United States serving from 1896 to 1902, when he returned to Rome. He was born in San Anna, Italy, in August, 1848, and was created and proclaimed cardinal on April 15, 1901, during his service in the United States. From 1907 to 1909 he was chamberlain of the sacred college. Cardinal Martinelli was ninth on the list of cardinal priests in order of precedence.

HAS VISITED NEWARK.
Cardinal Martinelli, during his stay in the United States as Papal Delegate visited Newark. A large class was prepared for confirmation at St. Francis de Sales church, and in the interim, following the death of Bishop Watterson, Cardinal Martinelli, then Monsig. Martinelli, conferred the sacrament of confirmation.

Can Be No Compromise Declares President In Fourth Of July Speech

MIGHT OF AMERICA PLEDGED ANEW TO ESTABLISHMENT OF JUSTICE AND FREEDOM AND MILITARYISM MUST BE BANISHED FROM EARTH FOREVER

NEW DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE FOR ALL THE PEOPLES DECLARES CHIEF EXECUTIVE

Wilson's Statement That No Half Way Decision is Tolerable or Conceivable May Have Important Effect in Forestalling Another "Peace Offensive" By Germany. Reiteration of America's Purpose to Permit of No Compromise in the Issues at Stake is Endorsed By Officials and Diplomats at Washington.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Washington, July 5.—The call to the peoples of the world to adopt America's declaration of independence and the reiteration of America's purpose to permit of "no compromise in the issues now at stake," made by President Wilson in his Fourth of July address at Mt. Vernon was endorsed today by officials and diplomats here.

The statement of the president that "no half way decision is tolerable" nor "is conceivable," many officials believed will have an important effect in forestalling another "peace offensive" by Germany, rumors of which have reached allied capitals for several weeks.

Although only a single reference was made to Russia, the enumeration of "the people of stricken Russia still among the rest, though they are for the moment unorganized and helpless" was counted upon to be a potent factor in the influences working for rehabilitation in that country.

The Mount Vernon address, it was pointed out by some officials, while not so specific as some of President Wilson's previous addresses, constitutes in many ways the most forceful and clear cut statement of allied war aims that he has given.

"Washington and his associates, like the barons of Runnymede, spoke as they acted, not for a class, but for a people," the president said. "It has been left for us to see to it that it shall be understood that they spoke and acted, not for a single people only, but for all mankind. We, here in America, believe our participation in this present war to be only the fruition of what they planned."

There can be but one issue. The settlement must be final. There can be no compromise. "What we seek is the reign of law, based upon the consent of the governed and sustained by the organized opinion of mankind."

The speaker's crisp words as he emphasized the least which America will consider as a basis for peace were interrupted by a tumult of applause and words of approval in many tongues. The demonstration swept beyond the wall of khaki-clad marines to the thousands of Americans scattered over the hills and through the woods surrounding Washington's home.

Elaborating the purpose for which the "associated peoples of the world" are fighting can be made only when the central powers agree to the destruction of militarism, the consent of the governed for all readjustments of the sacredness of treaties and the organization of a league of peace. He further forestalled any offers of peace by compromise which the central powers may make by announcing that the purposes for which the United States is sending millions of its men to the trenches may not be fulfilled around a council table.

"These great ends cannot be achieved by debating," the president asserted, "and seeking to reconcile and accommodate what statesmen may wish, with their projects for balances of power and of national opportunity. They can be realized only by the determination of what the thinking peoples of the world desire, with their longing hope for justice, for social freedom and opportunity."

Throughout his address the president referred to "the peoples," who are fighting against autocracy, stressing thereby the unity of purpose which actuates the allied nations. On the other hand, the differentiated between the people of Germany and their rulers, who he always has done, speaking of the isolated, friendless group of governments whose people are fuel in their hands.

A single reference to Russia gave notice to the world that the United States still accounts the peoples of the youngest democracy as allies. President Wilson enumerated the opponents of Germany as peoples of many races, "the people of stricken Russia, still among the rest, though they are for the moment unorganized and helpless." Especial interest attached to his words, particularly to the statement that Russia's distress is only temporary, because of plans now being formulated for giving assistance to the country. Boris Bakmetoff, who was sent here as Russian

NEWARK CITIZENS JOIN WITH FOREIGNERS IN PATRIOTIC FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION

As the native born and the foreign born figuratively clasped hands yesterday in a common cause the nation over, the citizens of Newark joined with the foreigners who have come here to live in the celebration of the nation's birthday anniversary.

America as a melting pot was exemplified yesterday when at President Wilson's dictation, a united celebration of Independence Day was carried out in every community. The local event, brought hundreds down town, although the day was probably one of the hottest of the summer months.

Rumanians, Hungarians, Italians, Belgians and many other nationalities by their co-operation showed their loyalty to the country of their adoption. Through various committees recently appointed the city celebrated throughout the afternoon and evening. A 1:30 o'clock the big parade with the various fraternal organizations and labor fraternities opened the festivities.

The grand marshals Sylvester H. Beadle, Jack Cantwell, and Albert Recknagle, led the parade and the assistants were William Deininger, Pierce F. Hayden, Jesse Schimmel and W. A. Archer.

The parade formation follows: First Division. Old Guard and drum corps. Sergt. M. Dolan, Sergt. Mills, Corporal L. E. Richardson and V. W. Gray, members of the National army from Camp Sherman.

Police. Mayor, Service and Safety Director. G. A. R. and U. V. L. Firing Squad. County and City officials. Trades and Labor assembly. Building Trades council. Rumanian societies. Daughters of Veterans.

Second Division. Buckeye band. Knight Templar. Hungarian societies. Sons of Veterans. Knights of Columbus.

I. O. O. F. Uniform team. Belgians. Modern Woodmen. Italian societies.

Third Division. K. of P. Uniform Rank. Unions. Colored Knight of Pythias. Eagles.

Fourth Division. Civic Bodies, Rotary Club, Chamber of Commerce War Work Committee.

One of the features of the parade was the Rumanian society, with the women marching. Many of the women wore their native costumes as did the men and several children. The Italians also had a large number of representatives in the procession.

After the parade the crowd assembled on the south steps of the court house where the program of the afternoon was carried out. Seated on the platform were the speakers, labor representatives, foreigners who marched in the parade, relatives of boys in the service and the Buckeye band. E. C. Wright, chairman of the Licking county war committee opened the program with a short talk, introducing Mayor Atcherson, who served as permanent chairman of the meeting. After a short talk by the Mayor, Rev. C. H. Stull, gave the invocation. Hon. J. R. Fitzgibbon was next introduced, stating that the message of the President which had been expected to talk upon had not been made public and he was forced to forego that pleasure. In the course of his remarks Mr. Fitzgibbon said that in 1776 a new form of government was established in this country. It was based on the theory that all men are created equal. It has made good through these one hundred and forty-two years of trial, and today we are celebrating the success of this experiment.

We invited all the down trodden people of the earth to come to our shores and enjoy freedom. Our country resembles a great Adam's Skull.

The myth of the existence of Adam's skull has its origin in the ancient tradition, according to which the first man is buried at Golgotha, beneath the very spot upon which later the cross of Christ was erected. It is for the reason that, in the presentations of the Crucifixion, painters and sculptors were wont to place a skull at the foot of the cross. The fact that a skull embedded in a natural rock could be seen behind the iron gate of the Church of the Holy Cross at Jerusalem was calculated to give credence to the tradition. It has, however, been discovered that the skull in question was artificial, made of brass and painted over with gray color to give it the appearance of a natural skull.

There is no more reason to condemn all advertised medicines than there is to condemn all physicians or all druggists. Fakes there are in every profession and in every trade, but they do not last long. Take medicine like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the true test of its merit is the fact that for forty years it has been relieving women of America from the worst forms of female ailments constantly growing in popularity and favor, until it is now recognized from ocean to ocean as the standard remedy for female ills.

The Scarecrow

By VICTOR REDCLIFFE

(Copyright, 1918, Western Newspaper Union.)

How poor they were, and what a hard time they had getting along! It was of this Nellie Duane was thinking as she counted over the contents of her little worn purse, and placed it hastily on the window sill, somewhat startled by a sharp cry from the rear yard. She recognized its accents as those of her little brother Phil. He had just reached the kitchen door step and had sunk to its support, white of face, his eyes dilating, his breath all but gone, and trembling all over.

"What is the matter," inquired Nellie solicitously.

"Chased!" came from between the bloodless lips.

"Why, what do you mean?" asked Nellie.

"Ghost spirits—it was awful! Shook a stick—yelled after me. Just as I was coming through the field."

"Who did?"

"It wasn't a who, it was a what!" blubbered Phil. "The old scarecrow."

"Come, come, Phil," rallied Nellie, "what nonsense is this?"

"It ain't nonsense. Guess you'd know if you had been there," protested Phil. "It's what I said, the old scarecrow. Don't I know the old coat and blue jeans trousers, and the straw hat. I saw it moving and ran, and it yelled and put after we—oh, oh!"

Just then Roscoe Duane came upon the scene and Phil repeated his extraordinary story. Roscoe placed a soothing hand on Phil's shoulder and urged him to his feet.

"Come ahead, Phil," he directed, "we'll go and investigate this scarecrow ghost of yours."

In about a quarter of an hour the duo reappeared, Roscoe smiling in his wonted pleasant way and Phil looking immensely relieved and reassured.

"What about the scarecrow?" asked Nellie.

"It's gone," replied Roscoe, "at least all except the framework. Some tramp or rag picker probably has appropriated the old clothes. Hello, what's this new wrinkle?"

About to go into the house, Roscoe bent his ear. From over near an oak ridge there were shouts, then several shots rang out. The sounds died away quickly, however, and Roscoe ascribed them to some hunting party, returning jovial and late from their sport.

He and Nellie sat on the front porch after Phil had gone to bed, discussing their family affairs. They had been married two years and things had not gone as anticipated. The first year their crops had failed, the next they were induced to take on a large debt in securing a much needed tractor.

"What in the world is that?" suddenly cried Roscoe, springing to his feet.

A yell had echoed through the house. The next moment Phil appeared in his night robe, his hair awry, his teeth chattering, dashed out upon the porch.

"Whatever is it now, Phil?" questioned his sister.

"The scarecrow—the ghost!" gulped Phil. "He looked in at the window of my room. Oh, I saw him! He's going to haunt me! Don't let him—o-o-w!"

They managed to soothe Phil down to reasonable coherency, but he persisted in his story. Roscoe went all about the house and grounds, but discovered no trace of the alleged ghostly visitant.

It seemed that the stirring and unusual events of the night were not over yet, however. As Nellie lit the lamp in the sitting room, she uttered a sharp, dismayed cry that brought Roscoe to her side at once.

"Roscoe," she gasped—"my purse with the tax money and our little savings in it! I left it carelessly on the window sill and it is gone."

They traced out more than one mystery the next morning, when they learned that a term prisoner had escaped from the penitentiary ten miles away, had been pursued by armed guards and had escaped. It was reasonable to conjecture that he had used the scarecrow clothes as a disguise, and had taken the money to help him in his further flight.

Three months later sadness and gloom overclouded the little home. Affairs had arrived at their worst. Claims for back rent and the tractor debt had brought about a climax, where the Duanes were to be sold out. It was a sorrowful home, this in which the struggling young couple saw their last possessions in the hands of the sheriff.

A plainly dressed man, a stranger, was the most active bidder and bought in all the auctioned property. The creditors' claims were satisfied, when they had departed the stranger approached Roscoe.

"I have come here for another," he explained, "in fact I am a lawyer and acting for an unfortunate relative who escaped from prison a short time since, and, through appropriating some clothing and money at your place here, managed to reach friends, and later a foreign country. It seems that he overheard you discuss your difficulties, and was so grateful for the help you involuntarily brought to him, that he instructed his wealthy father remembering you, I am authorized to return to you the property I have bought in and to see that you are financed for the future."

So, through strange mediums, the little Roscoe and grateful Nellie were again in the glow of happiness, and the little shadow of a new hope.

The little that flesh is heir to are generally, lifted.

CHANGES MADE NECESSARY BY CONSOLIDATION

The recent consolidation of the Adams and Wells Fargo Express companies, necessitated a change in the officials of the company in this city.

P. W. Faust has been made agent under the new plan and H. E. Cooks is named commercial agent. Stanley Neibarger is to be cashier and W. F. Nolls is to be money clerk. A. R. Vannatta will be in charge of both departments and the temporary quarters will be at the Adams Express office until repairs can be made at the Wells-Fargo rooms.

SOLDIERS' LETTERS

Miss Catharine Baumgartner, of 237 Beech street has received the following letter from her brother Frank, with the American Expeditionary Forces in France:

Somewhere in France, June 11, 1918.

My dear sister Catharine—Once again opportunity comes my way and I will grasp it to the very end, and make an attempt to answer your short, but longed for letter which you wrote, I believe in a hurry after I read it. I commenced to think that probably the Dutch were hot on your trail because that you cut it so short. Your letter was dated May 14 and don't think Sis that I am trying to ball you out, so wipe your eyes and don't cry. I am only in an ideal humor and I never felt any better in my life than I do this very day. I have reasons to feel this way. No, I cannot tell you why, censorship prohibits me from writing it to you; no doubt you will have some very tall guessing ahead of you trying to figure this out, so drop the matter and when I get back then you will hear of the real stuff about the big doings. As the days come and go always something new turns up and goes down in history (my diary) and I have wished time and again that I could place it in mothers hands so that she and all of you could only know how life is over here and how things are going. No indeed, Sis I have nothing whatever to regret in enlisting and coming over here. I have seen things with my own eyes and I will always know it to be the truth. I have learned a great deal worth while and I want to tell you sister, that I am a very happy kid although I am about 6000 miles from home. Yes, I will tell you that when a fellow looks at the mileage it is a very long way to Ohio and a few miles to Tipperary; I will say this that Newark looks mighty good to your kid brother. Oh, I smell cabbage cooking and that just put me in mind of the war-gardens over here and take it from me girl, they are certainly neat and the French people take pride in them and they are out in the fields working all day from day light till dark and just think of it daylight comes on at 3 o'clock and then you can pull out some letters that have been read over time and time again and read them till 10 o'clock at night, so you can just imagine how these poor old men and women must work over here. Oh, Sis it is a dirty shame to see these grandmothers out working like that and the Kaiser is causing it all and there is no doubt that the old women in Germany are doing the same, only more. They are feeding the horses in Germany potatoes and believe me we are doing our bit and how we all are anxious to get our glimmers on that Dutchman called the Kaiser and when we get the bead on him he will look like a spotted leopard when we get one shot a piece at him. Say, Sis we have the prettiest wild flowers out in no-mans land (did you ever hear of that place?) Well it is a strip of land that separates us from the Dutch trenches on both sides, of course we are on one side and the Dutch on the other and it is a very pretty sight to see. I mean the flowers out there of course, and you can imagine what will be done if you stroll out there to pick a few. Well, the Dutch are not lovers of flowers, I have found that out and when it comes to liking flowers, well those out there I like to look at but I don't want to pick any of them. Well it is a cinch that a man would get killed trying to steal one, but if you stole a million dollars all you would get would be the pen, so I don't care for any of those old flowers out there anyhow, ha, ha. I will write more the next time sister, so I will close for this time, love and kisses to all.

A Married Chump.

The man and wife came into the car together. She was handsome; he was stout. And don't you know, he didn't say a word to her or turn his head toward her in the whole trip from Broad to way beyond Parsons. She spoke once or twice, but the chump never seemed to listen. She was non-existent so far as he was concerned. Is it possible that the man ignored the lovely lady because she was his wife? That is too often the case, and it was plainly so in this. We felt like punching him on the head, throwing him out of the car and sitting by the sweet lady ourself. Of course that might have been no improvement, and quite unacceptable to the lady, but it involved the real logic of the incident. True, a man is not expected to make love to his wife on the car, but she is certainly entitled to the respect some other woman would inspire. Ohio State Journal.

Convincing "Argufiers."

"Some men," said Uncle Elton, "is such smart argufiers that dey kin almost make you go back on somethin' you does understand an' believe somethin' you does not."

MOORE BOUND OVER TODAY IN POLICE COURT

George Moore was bound over to the common pleas court this morning in lieu of $500 on a charge of stealing articles valued at $15 from Frank Wiley. Moore waived examination and was bound over in police court.

Reuben Webb of Straitsville, and Duce Kelley with one other resident of Newburg, were fined $5.00 and costs in police court this morning for intoxication.

Harold Wolf, 16, was fined $1 and costs for riding on the sidewalk in West Church street.

It's a good plan to tax the luxuries, and while carpet may be a luxury, we even hear of carpet tacks.

Chicago Grain and Provisions.

(Associated Press Telegram)

Chicago, July 5.—Good weather over the greater part of the corn-belt tended today to make values decline. Opening prices, which ranged from 1-5/8 to 1-3/4 lower, with August 1-3/4 to 1-3/8 lower, and September 1-3/8 to 1-3/4 lower, were followed by a moderate further setback but then by a reaction.

Activity on the part of export interests gave firmness to the oats market. After opening unchanged to 1-1/2c lower, with August 63-3/4 to 64-1/2, prices sagged a little further and then rose to Wednesday's finish.

Provisions reflected strength in the hog market. The best demand was for ribs.

TOLEDO GRAIN.

Purchasers of 200 War Savings Stamps, July price $330, become members of the "Limit Club." Postmasters, bankers and other agents who sell 200 stamps to one individual or firm are requested to report the names to the Licking County War Savings committee.

Signed pledge cards are arriving a W. S. S. headquarters everyday. It is not too late to fill out and mail pledge cards. Scratch out the line "June $4.17," fill in the blank spaces sign the card and drop it into the first mail box. No stamp is required.

All the leading newspapers of the state and 250 of the smaller papers have published the great record Granville is making in the W. S. S. campaign—$40 per capita to date. And Granville people are still buying stamps.

The Red Cross conducted a sale of War Savings stamps July 4th in the log cabin, southeast corner of the park. Mrs. William C. Miller, Mrs. Frederic M. Black and Miss Miller were in charge of the sale.

Edward B. Wright of Granville joined the $1,000 "Limit Club" today.

DE PALMA VICTOR IN HANDICAP AT CINCINNATI SPEEDWAY

Cincinnati, July 5.—Ralph De Palma won the 100 miles Liberty handicap automobile race yesterday by finishing almost a full lap of the two-mile course ahead of Tom Milton. The latter had only a small margin over Ralph Mulford, while Barney Oldfield was a half mile behind but landed in fourth place. De Palma drove a consistent race and was favored by not having to stop during the entire race. He assumed the lead at the thirty-fifth mile and thereafter was never headed. Denny Hickney, after repeated trouble with his engine, came in fifth and Louis Chevrolet, who was a favorite previous to the race, was forced to the pits three times with tire trouble but finished well up and obtained sixth place. Others who finished were Lou Van, Fred McCarthy, Andy Burt, A. B. Cotey and Omar Toft.

Dario Resta was forced out of it on the thirtieth lap, while Arthur Duray, Milton McBride and Joe Boyer went out before the 50-mile mark. Mack and Jim Meyer announced shortly before the race that their cars were not in condition and they refused the issue Joe Boyer, in a Procter, was an added starter, making the total number to go 16.

De Palma's time of the race was 58 minutes, 11 and 1-10 seconds. Louis Chevrolet won the 10-mile handicap, taking the first preliminary heat and then forming the pace. His best time was 5 minutes 3 seconds. Joe Boyer finished second in the final heat. Ralph Mulford third and Dario Resta fourth.

Testing His Patience.

The farmer has much to try his patience and forbearance this year. In the face of all his other difficulties he fails to get the proper appreciation from the very ones who depend upon him for the bread of life.

The city worker in most instances toils his eight hours, and afterwards does what suits him best. He is content to provide for his own family and make both ends meet, and there his anxiety ends. How his neighbor in another block fares is no concern of his.

Suppose the farmer should take this same attitude for 1918, suppose he thought only of his immediate family. He is not now burdened with debt. He could easily provide for his own on less than eight hour basis.

Can the city dwellers give any good reason why the farmers should do more than they? Is America more his home than theirs? Just because he is a farmer is he by birth and nature more patriotic? Is it his duty "to forgive" and feed those who unjustly accuse him of profiteering? Should he turn the other cheek, and then sweat long hours that they who call him "a slacker" will have cheap living. He will do his whole duty of course. He has since the twilight dawn of history. But it would be well to remember that the farmer has long memory. He is always slow to anger, but relentless in his righteous wrath.

When the readjustment comes, the farmers will remember. He will demand full recognition for himself and agriculture. He will ask for justice and get it. He is organizing himself today as never before and will continue to organize until he can speak as one man and as the greatest force in the republic for progress, morality and humanity.

LICKING.

"Children's Day" was observed last Sunday evening with a good program. To much credit cannot be given the committee who had charge. Little Mildred McClish made quite an impression. Also the "Flag Drills." In fact all the children done nicely and the music good.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kochendorfer and Miss Mary Ruffner spent last Sunday in Columbus.

Fred B. Larimore and family of New Philadelphia and N. C. Brown, Jr., called at the J. R. Black home last Sunday afternoon. They returned to their home Monday after a week's visit with relatives.

Several of our girls have entered the role of farmerettes and are taking a part in the harvest, owing to the scarcity of men.

Mrs. James Slocumb and Vivian ate Sunday dinner with Maude Orr at the latter's home.

Mr. Arthur Brown and family, who have been visiting at the home of N. C. Brown, Sr., returned to their home on Harrisburg, Pa., last Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Albert White is a victim of poisoning, caused from the beet in the harvest field.

James Ewing and wife of Iowa, are spending their vacation on their farm near this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Carry Norris, Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Sperry of Newark, were at the J. R. Black home Friday evening.

The Hebron division of the Ladies' Circle meets at the home of Mrs. B. S. Buckland in Hebron next Thursday afternoon. Licking division meets with Mrs. R. L. Black, the second Thursday of this month.

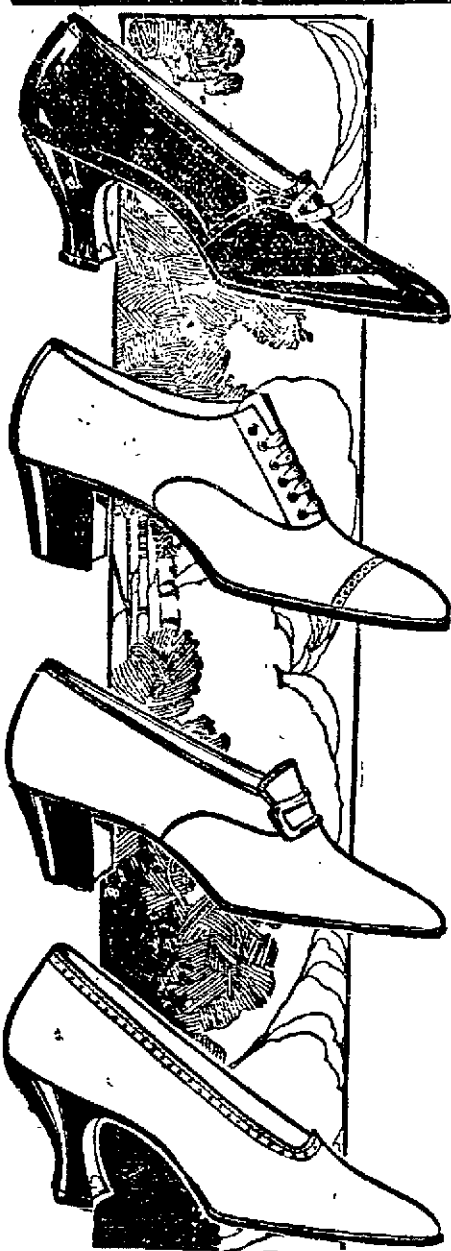

Mrs. T. P. Jones received word from her son, Guy, of Redlands, California, saying he was going into Y. M. C. A. work and would probably "go over" about the 1st of August. He also stated he wanted to stop off and make them a little visit.

Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor and daughter Louise spent Sunday after church at the Oscar Taylor home.

Back the Government to the Limit

The Government has asked American business to pursue a certain course for the duration of the war.

Keep quality up and prices reasonable,
—a strictly non-profiteering policy.

It is the only patriotic policy. It is the policy this company has always adopted and the one we will continue to pursue.

We stand ready to undergo any sacrifice in order to cooperate with the Government.

We believe it is best for ourselves.

We know it is best for our country.

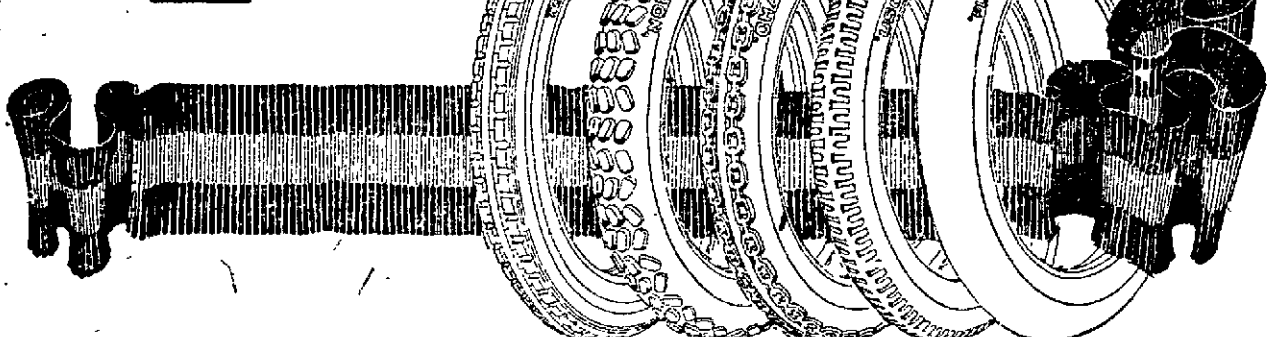

We appeal to all concerns—big and small—to adopt the same policy.

American business must rally as a unit to the support of the Government.

It is the surest and the quickest way to win the war.

Be Careful in Using Soap on Your Hair

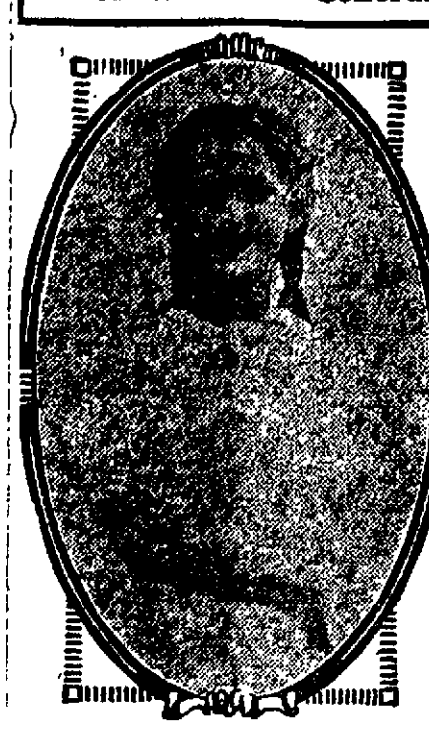

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mul-sified coconut oil, for it is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats the most expensive soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

First to Attain Rank of W. S. S. General

"GENERAL" FLORA LEISTNER.

Columbus, Ohio—(Special)—By her achievement in selling more than $5000 of War Savings Stamps, Flora Leistner, a pupil in Westwood School, Cincinnati, is the first School Sammy in Ohio to become a "general." She has been given a specially designed button to distinguish her rank in the School Sammy Army of Ohio.

Besides Miss Leistner, there are ten other "generals" in the Ohio School Sammy Army. They are, in order in which they attained the rank: Evelyn Clutch, Indianola School, Columbus; Durward B. Haggerty, Hillsboro; Thomas Reid, St. Xavier's School, Cincinnati; Katherine Normile, St. Xavier's School, Cincinnati; Dorothy Nelson, Marengo; Rebecca Davis, Salem; Mary C. Huston, Bellefontaine; John Hatcher, Fair Avenue School, Columbus; Esther Schultz, Linwood School, Cincinnati; Helen Z. Baker, Homeworth.

Manner in which School Sammy ranks are merited follows: Sale of 20 War Savings Stamps, corporal; 40, sergeant; 80, second lieutenant; 120, first lieutenant; 200, captain; 400, major; 600, colonel; and 1000, general. These sales are based on War Savings Stamps at maturity value of $5 each.

OHIO W. S. S. QUOTA OVER HALF TAKEN

Pledge Week Drive Gives State $67,000,000 Total

Columbus, O.—(Special)—Of Ohio's 1918 War Savings Stamp quota of $106,000,000, more than $67,000,000 was subscribed, in cash and pledges, to July 1. This result was achieved as a result of observance of National War Savings Week in this state, as a medium through which people of Ohio answered the appeal of the president that "none be unenlisted."

While the treasury department has allowed Ohio all of this year to meet its W. S. S. allotment, it is the aim of the Ohio War Savings Committee to "mop up" on its job before the October Liberty Loan campaign.

By reason of the War Savings Week drive, Morrow county follows on the heels of Ashland county in passing its 1918 quota in cash sales. Ashland, the first county in the nation to go on the "honor roll," is well on its way to meeting its second allotment of $20 per capita.

These counties secured pledges and made cash sales during the week's campaign just closed in sufficient amount to insure the passing of the yearly allotment in less than half the time allowed: Champaign, Clark, Coshocton, Erie, Marion, Noble, Highland, Geauga, Putnam, Seneca and Stark. Many others have approximated the amount set as the goal for this year's War Savings sales.

In Cuyahoga county, cash sales in excess of $500,000 were made during the special week, with addition of $5,000,000 in pledges. Cincinnati and Hamilton county secured pledges of about $3,000,000; Franklin county, including Columbus, pledges of $3,500,000, and Lucas county promises to buy of $600,000. A million in pledges were secured in Belmont county.

Records made by Stark and Clark counties are the most enviable of any in the state, considering that these are industrial communities. Quota for the former county was set for the year at $1,438,140, while its mark attained in cash and pledges is $1,675,000. In Stark county, with an allotment of $2,872,000, cash sales and pledges to the first of the month passed the $3,000,000 mark.

While every county in Ohio secured millions of dollars in War Savings Stamp pledges and although many have "hit the tape," there will be no diminution in the efforts of local chairmen to continue the campaign. Many of the counties are planning to follow example of Ashland county, where cash quota of $20 per capita was passed several months ago, and where the sale of W. S. S. has been continued with such vigor that the sales now equal about $25 for every person.

Help fight the war. Pay your way with War Savings Stamps if you can not go to the front.

Unfortunately the fellow who shoots off his mouth doesn't always blow out his brains.

AMUSEMENTS

ALHAMBRA

Friday and Saturday.
Edith Story, the star of "Treasure of the Sea," a Metro Alhambra Series picture which comes to the Alhambra theatre on Friday and Saturday has added another athletic accomplishment to her already long list. It is trap shooting, and as the result of her success she intends to join a gun club. While on location making scenes for her latest picture, she tried her skill with a shotgun, broke twenty out of the first twenty-five claps. Birds released from the trap. She tried again, and broke twenty-one, making a total of forty-one out of fifty.

GEM

Friday.
Can you imagine a woman who was spending her last dollar to impress an American millionaire, and who had him laughing at her as it were, rolling a proposal around on his tongue, being interrupted in this most important moment of her whole life by the entrance of her seventeen-year-old daughter? That's just what happened to the mother in "A Mother's Secret," which will be seen for the first time on Friday at the Gem theatre. And that seventeen-year-old year-old daughter, was the mother's secret. The millionaire was a mighty fine secret, too, and he began to pay almost as much attention to the daughter as to the mother, only he brought the mother roses and the daughter toys. For another was wise. "You would not think I was the mother of a thirteen-year-old girl," she said. "Now, would you?" And the daughter was the only one who kicked on the thirteen. For she was half in love with the millionaire himself. So, you see, there is some situation in "A Mother's Secret."

AUDITORIUM

"The Secret Game."
Large crowds greeted Sessue Hayakawa's production of "The Secret Game," a Paramount picture, at the Auditorium and directed by W. C. DeMille. "The Secret Game" is a romance of the secret service in which Sessue Hayakawa, the famous Japanese actor, works to save from destruction the American transports that are secretly carrying American troops across the Pacific to surprise the enemy on the Russian front. Japan, the United States' great ally, has guaranteed safety to these transports and in return for honor of his country that Sessue Hayakawa is put on the job.

Service that there is a leak somewhere in official circles and this leak has been traced to the office of one Major Northfield, V. S. Quartermaster of the Pacific Coast. The American Secret Service has declared Major Northfield to be above suspicion, but nevertheless Sessue Hayakawa is to watch him, and for this purpose hires an office next to his where he sets himself up as a "Japanese Imperialist."

The truth of the matter is that little Kitty Little, a stenographer in Northfield's office, is the real "leak" through which important news is sent to the enemy. She is a girl of German parentage who has a brother in the German army. She is working under the direction of a so-called "Smith" (Schmidt in German) who, under the cloak of being a physician, sees his agents as patients.

It is Dr. Smith who has procured the position for Kitty in Northfield's office, for he pretends to be a great friend of the Major. He is the one who invites Kitty and Miss Loring, Northfield's private secretary, to a little dinner, during the course of which he so drugs Miss Loring's coffee that she loses consciousness and is taken with a sort of amnesia. Kitty is promoted to be Loring's secretary, where she has access to all the important documents. This feature is shown today and tomorrow.

"Her Screen Idol."
The big screen yesterday was the comedy "Her Screen Idol," in which Louise Fazenda, as one of Ford Sterling's admirers, who is the screen idol, Jack Cooper, exacts a price from Rogers, Marvel Lea and others assents in the merry making.

The story tells of handsome Jack Darling, a hero in the eyes of the women, but himself as well. One day he attends a picture presentation of himself in a thrilling drama and in an incautious moment, Jack Cooper, a butler, takes Louise Fazenda, a parlor maid and his fiancée, to the same show.

They are seated next to Jack Darling and Louise. Instantly recognizes her screen idol, to thinking that Louise's presence proves too much for the beauty, and she instantly returns Cooper's engagement ring with the announcement that will never marry until she finds a hero like Jack Darling.

It will be seen today and tomorrow.

"The Moth"

Norma Talmadge is the Auditorium feature for Monday and Tuesday next and will be seen for the first time in "The Moth," in which she plays the role of a wood-bee modern Cleopatra, who has become dazed by the vision of the Egyptian queen, and determines to become a second Cleopatra. She drifts along, breaking hearts, becoming discontented, drifting constantly about the flame of her own folly, and reaping the harvest of that folly. But a chance comes, and she is married after many episodes of gripping interest, she learns to find happiness in her two pretty children and a noble-hearted man, in the end.

Talmadge are Eugene O'Brien, Hassard Short, Virginia Dare, Adolph Menjou, Maud Allen and other well known screen players. Charles Chaplin in "A Dog's Life" is also seen.

Auditorium Notes

Sunday amusement seekers are assured another picture with a punch in "The Model's Confession," which comes to Mr. Fenwick's theatre on Sunday next. In this Mary MacLaren, the noted screen star is seen as the star. This is another one of those corking photoplays that the Auditorium have been showing the past few Sundays and is seen together with a comedy also the week.

For Sunday the comedy shown in connection with "The Model's Confession" will be Alice Howell, and the famous "Lucky" picture, a snappiest two-reel musical comedy ever staged, called "Oh Baby." Miss Howell as Mary MacLaren is a very clever comedienne and backed by a bunch of beauties, she is sure to please all Auditorium patrons.

John Harvard's History Traced.
Until modern times, says the London Graphic, John Harvard was "the Melchizedek of New England." He was "without father, without mother, without descent." So profound was the ignorance concerning the founder of America's first and greatest university, that an offer of a princely reward for "five lines of definite information" about him went unclaimed.
Gradually, however, the labors of various industrious investigators bore fruit, until today John Harvard is a real figure of American history, whose footprints on English soil are clearly legible.
"Safety first" is a good rule in times of peace, but doesn't make soldiers.

ONE OF THE MANY EXPLANATIONS that have been offered to account for the fact that migrating birds are able to find their way by night and in cloudy
or foggy weather is that they are sensitive, in some way, to currents of terrestrial magnetism, and therefore direct their flight by the magnetic influences. This suggestion was put forth by M. A. Thauzies, a French pigeon-fancier, who declares the carrier-pigeons make poor flights during the occurrence of magnetic storms. He also asserts that the general use of wireless telegraphy has diminished the reliability of these birds to a surprising extent.

Time is money, and yet lots of people talk against time.

BIG CELEBRATION
AT GRANVILLE, O.
ON JULY FOURTH

(Special to The Advocate.)
Granville, O., July 5.—Nearly thirteen years ago this old town celebrated her first century with a seven-day home-coming that has become the unit of values for comparing every succeeding demonstration whether patriotic or civic, that has occurred. But even on that glorious occasion, enthusiasm mounted no higher, the crowds on any one day were not so great, nor the town itself half so beautiful as it appeared on the Fourth of July, 1918. The arrangements were perfect from "bouteonnieres" to brass band, and the committees are entitled to the grate-tude of the whole community for this showing what Granville can do when good men get behind and boost, with many of her sons in the service and many more to go, there was something deeper than mere enjoyment back of the movement for a big Fourth. The parade was of a patriotic nature throughout, in which organizations, dealers and citizens joined with a will, and which on the broad thoroughfare with its overarching trees made a beautiful and impressive appearance. Groups of families and friends took their dinner on the old G. F. C. grounds to the entrancing strains of the Thomas Howard band from Columbus, which had played for the parade and which furnished the music for the athletic events which followed, giving a brief concert at 7 o'clock in the court of honor and playing for the evening's carnival. An interval of quiet and reflection on the real significance of the day's celebration was afforded by the community prayer service in the lecture room of the Baptist church, which was crowded to the doors.
Rev. E. Crawford led the meeting.
The scene on the wide plaza, between town hall and churches, was one long to be remembered by the hundreds—yes, thousands—gathered 'round the court of honor with its patriotic decorations and its electric illumination.
The costumes of the masquers were striking, many of them beautiful; the music was inspiring to the dancers, and for two hours everybody had a good time. Then the music, played "Sweet Home," the lights were extinguished, the barriers were removed, and traffic was resumed on Broadway, as if it never had been interrupted. There was no noise, no confusion, no anxiety, lest someone should get hurt, but "all went merry as a marriage bell." The following were announced as prize-winners, receiving their prizes in thrift stamps:
One-half mile race (age limit, 15 years), Conrad Heinrichs, Christian Toney, Neil Crooks; 100-yard dash (free-for-all), David Jordan, J. Hammon; 50-yard boys (age limit, 12 years), Kieth Hammond, Roy Bishop; parade: First prize or best float was awarded: The Eastern Star; second prize, King's Daughters; third prize, H. D. Ashbrook; fourth prize, Senior Red Cross. First prize for best decorated automobile: First prize, L. H. Hustin; second prize, Carl Wefant; third prize, S. E. Morrow.

Judges in this class were: Mr. Stuart of Pleasantville, Mr. Wat of Cleveland, and Mr. Reiffe of New York.
Prizes awarded at the carnival: For children's comic costume, prize awarded: "The Goid-Dust Twins," (1) Wendall Barnes, (2) Henry Green; or children's artistic costume,
"The Fairies," (1) Elizabeth Bishop,
(2) Emma Shelley; ladies' artistic costume, "A Japanese Girl," Mrs.
Dundy; ladies' comic costume, "A Spinster of 1865," Mrs. W. A. Mitchell; men's comic costume, "Uncle Sam," (1) Jenkin Jones; "a clown," (2) E. A. Smoots. Committee on awards: W. W. Geach, C. D. Coons and Mr. Gerstenberg of New York.
The Junior Red Cross had one of the most generally-admired floats in the parade driven by the director, Miss Mamie Lloyd. The Child's Welfare float also received much applause.

Migratory Birds.
One of the many explanations that have been offered to account for the fact that migrating birds are able to find their way by night and in cloudy
or foggy weather is that they are sensitive, in some way, to currents of terrestrial magnetism, and therefore direct their flight by the magnetic influences. This suggestion was put forth by M. A. Thauzies, a French
pigeon-fancier, who declares the carrier-pigeons make poor flights during the occurrence of magnetic storms. He also asserts that the general use of wireless telegraphy has diminished the reliability of these birds to a surprising extent.

ple talk against time.

crucible in which all people are converted into Americans. God has been good to this country, because among many other things, he has given us President Wilson to guide us through our trouble.
He then spoke of the great loyalty of the foreign people of this city, showing how they have done everything in their power to help the government win the war.
Extracts from a letter, from the Roumanian colony of this city, which Mr. Fitzgibbon read, follow:
"We, the Roumanians of this city, and of the United States, know that the United States will not give up until she and her allies are victorious.
We are backing the boys by sending some of our number into the fight, by buying Liberty Bonds, War Savings Stamps, by subscribing to the Red Cross, the War Chest, etc.
God bless the greatest man of the hour, Woodrow Wilson. Long live the United States and Woodrow Wilson."
After Mr. Fitzgibbon's speech, the audience sang "America," accompanied by the Buckeye Band.
Frank Streat then sang a delightful solo entitled, "So Long, Mother."
Then Mayor Atherton introduced Rev. George Bohon Schmitt. He said that there are lessons which we are learning today, which we didn't get in times of peace.
Our forefathers died for this experiment of government. It was continued by the old soldiers and their comrades in the civil war.
We do not appreciate the heritage of the American people, North-standing Kaiserism. God is with us, because of the fact that our forefathers made this government with the realization of the Almighty and Omnipotent Father.
Rev. Schmitt said that he was impressed when the parade went by to see all the men and women of Rou-mania and Italy. They are loyal to the United States.
Rev. Schmitt sounded a note of warning about the abolition of the German language here in America, because there will be more German propaganda after the war is over, and the people should know German in order to check it.
Rev. Schmitt closed his address with a toast to the American flag, by Joseph Rodman Drake.
Then the audience sang the "Battle Hymn of the Republic," accompanied by the band.
George H. Hamilton was next introduced by Mayor Atherton. He said that men cast aside their kindred and came from every land to the new world to build up a shrine for freedom.
All people are fighting to make the world either free or slave and from America come the answer that we will fight until night is victorious over night.
Men all over the earth are brothers now. Organized labor in this city has sent 263 boys to the front.

Labor builds the ships, aeroplanes, guns and everything else necessary to win the war. Labor's position in the war is to win it.
Mr. Hamilton pointed out that the war is bringing about one of the greatest blessings ever come to the U. S., the closer relationship between capital and labor evidenced by the congregation on the platform of laborers, preachers, bankers, newspaper men and professional men, all working together in the common cause.
Then Mr. Hamilton spoke to the foreigners. We welcome you to our country with open arms, but only on the condition you will obey the law, guard its dignity and aid its enforcement.
He ended by appealing to the people to lend their money to the government, in order that it may take care of the boys in the service.
The meeting ended with the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" and the benediction by C. H. Stull.

In the evening the Buckeye Band occupied the platform on the South steps of the court house and with Fred Sreer as vocalist gave a delightful program of patriotic and popular airs. Many people crowded in front of the stand and little groups enjoyed the pleasure of the park during the evening.

WHITE FIELD YESTERDAY.
The Y. M. C. A. bicycle races came off as per schedule July Fourth at White Field. Twenty-six boys rode against the stop-watch and some road work was done. In class B the record is as follows: Claud Furbee, 40c seconds. In the Class C the following two boys won: Bud Smith, 50 1/2 seconds; Carl Boehm, 42 1/2 seconds. All races were a quarter mile.
Other records follow: John Berker, 42 1/2; Ted Smith and William Barker,
43 1/2; William Furbee and Carl Piemer, 43 1/2; George Martin, 41 Leo Reichert, 41 1/2; Arthur Cunningham and Francis Bentz, 45 2-5; John Slanker, 46 2-5; Don Jordan, 46 1/2; Chas. Mc-

Gonagle, 46 3-5; Roger Wheeler and Mark Mitchell, 46 4-5; Felix Jones,
47 2-5; Earl Debevoise 49 2-5; Harley Claggett, 49 3/4; Fred McElroy, 49 4-5;
Waldo Cochran, 51 4-5; Lester Keyes, 54; James Brady, 55 3-5; Jos. Mossman, 56.
Carl Frenier and Ted Smith, both 14 years old, showed good speed and with training might reduce their time below 40 seconds. The record of 40 1/2 seconds was made by a fourteen year old country boy. Some of the wheels about town need attention, no one can ride a race with broken pedals or treacherous brakes.
The Y. M. C. A. hopes to repeat these contests on a large scale, and has set Thursday, August 1, for the next race.
There are three weeks for boys to train and repair in. Get busy and register for the next race at the Y. Valuable prizes will be awarded the four winners of the above events, such as warrant striving for.

A GREAT CROWD AT BUCKEYE LAKE ON FOURTH JULY

Yesterday's attendance at Buckeye Lake park was a record breaker. By 10 o'clock in the morning 3,000 automobiles were packed at the lake and thousands of people taxed the capacity of the trolley cars. Manager Deffenbaugh said "last night that yesterday's attendance was 25 per cent greater than the previous record. It doesn't look like the park will close July 4th, does it?" observed Mr. Deffenbaugh. It seems that some person had started the report that the park would close after July 4th owing to poor business. The fact is Buckeye Lake Park is booming. The cottages all about the lake are filled and the transient custom is large. Buckeye Lake Park was never more attractive than it is today.

LAKE YACHT CLUB
The Smith twins, representing the Athletic Club of Columbus, shared the honors of the swimming events with Amelia Wright and Dorothy Law. Dayton V. M. C. A. The swimming and diving of these four girls was a revelation to the spectators.

Officials listed the respective positions in a capable manner as follows: Referee, Commodore William M. Frisbie; starter, James C. Taylor, Athletic club; timers, L. A. Sackett and O. L. Albright; judges at finish, H. H. Rousseau, C. F. East, and H. M. Baumgartner; judges at turn, Joe Metzger, Guy Sackett and Mrs. W. O. Howard; announcer, W. M. Matthews.

50-yard novice—First, Roger Addison, Athletic club; second, Walter Chilcott, Columbus Y. M. C. A.; third, Kenneth Speiman, Columbus Y. M. C. A. Time, 29 3/4 seconds.

25 yards, boys under 14 years—First, Wynn Silberagel, Athletic club; second, Robert Black, Athletic club; third, Jack Price, Athletic club. Time, 23 seconds.

100-yard inland lake championship for men—First, Roger Addison, Athletic club; second, Clyde Hinton, Athletic club; third, H. R. Leslie, Denison University. Time, 1 minute 10 seconds.

50-yard inland lake championship for ladies—First, Ruth Smith, Athletic club; second, Dorothy Law, Dayton Y. M. C. A.; third, Eleanor C. Taylor, Athletic club. Time, 1 minute, 24 seconds.

ASST. SEC. KEPPEL MAKES INSPECTION OF CAMP SHERMAN

(Associated Press Telegram.)
Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, O., July 5.—Fred P. Keppel, third assistant secretary of war, will complete his inspection of Camp Sherman today and late in the afternoon will depart for another assignment.

Mr. Keppel, accompanied by two members of the war advisory board, reached the camp yesterday afternoon and immediately started their inspection. It is understood that the military authorities were highly pleased with the manner in which the camp is being operated and realized the need of more barracks and a large maneuver field.

Many officers of camp believe that the inspection will be closely followed by construction orders from Washington in conformity with the building program which has been mapped out by officers of camp.

Camp officers had received opinions on the ground necessary for the maneuver field and the new barracks. No options on land have been received since the arrival of Major General Harry C. Hale and the 84th division, as previously reported.

George A. Gutches and Chick D. Christ, Bowling Green, O., John W. Yitt and Jacob Jacobson, Toledo, and Anastas Wason, have been discharged from the service until such time as they may be regularly and legally inducted into the service.

Recruit Thomas J. Brown, Lancaster, Pa.; Privates Benjamin H. Graves, Portsmouth, and William T. Rankin, Cleveland, have been discharged on certificates of disability.

CAN BE NO COMPROMISE

ambassador during the Kerensky regime, was in the audience.

The president's speech in full was as follows:

"Gentlemen of the diplomatic corps and my fellow-citizens:

"I am happy to draw apart with you to this quiet place of old counsel in order to speak a little of the meaning of this day of our nation's independence. The place seems very still and remote. It is as serene and untouched by the hurry of the world as it was in those great days long ago when General Washington was president and held leisurely conferences with the men who were to be associated with him in the creation of a nation. From these gentle slopes they looked out on the world and saw it whole, saw it with the light of the future on it, saw it with modern eyes that turned away from a past which men of liberated spirit could no longer endure. It is for that reason that we cannot feel, even here in the immediate presence of this sacred tomb, that this is a place of death. It was a place of achievement. A great promise that was meant for all mankind was here given plan and reality. The associations by which we are here surrounded are the inspiring associations of that noble death which is only a glorious consummation. From this green hillside we also ought to be able to see with comprehending eyes the world that lies about us and should conceive anew the purposes that must set men free.

"It is significant—significant of their own character and purpose and of the influence they were setting about—that Washington and his associates, like the barons at Runnymede, spoke and acted not for a class, but for a people. It has been left but for us to see that it shall be understood what they spoke and acted, not for a single people only, but for all mankind. They were thinking not of themselves and of the material interests which centered in the little groups of landholders and merchants and men of affairs with whom they were accustomed to act in Virginia and the colonies to the north and south of her, but of a people which wished to be done with classes and special interests and the authority of men whom they did not themselves choose to rule over them. They entertained no private purpose, desired no peculiar privilege. They were consciously planning a new men of every class should be free and America a place to which men out of every nation might resort who wished to share with them the rights and privileges of free men. And we take our cue from them—do we not? We intend what they intended. We here in America believe our participation in this present war to be only the fruitage of what they planted. Our case differs from theirs only in this, that it is our inescapable privilege to concert with men out of every nation what shall make not only the liberties of America secure but the liberties of every other people as well. We are happy in the thought that we are permitted to do what they would have done had they been in our place. There must now be settled once for all what was settled for America in the great age upon whose inspiration we draw today. This is surely a fitting place from which calmly to look out upon our task, that we may fortify our spirits for its accomplishment. And this is the appropriate place from which to avow, alike to the friends who look on and to the friends with whom we have the happiness to be associated in action, the faith and purpose with which we act.

"This, then, is our conception of the great struggle in which we are engaged. The plot is written plain upon every scene and every set of the supreme tragedy. On the one hand stand the peoples of the world—not only the peoples actually engaged, but many others also who suffer under mastery but cannot act, peoples of many races and in every part of the world—the people of stricken Russia still among the rest, though they are for the moment unorganized and helpless. Opposed to them masters of many armies, stand an isolated, friendship group of governments who speak no common purpose but only selfish ambitions of their own by which none can profit but themselves and whose peoples are fuel in their hands; governments which fear their people and yet are for the time their sovereign lords, making every choice for them and disposing of their lives and fortunes as they will as well as of the lives and fortunes of every people who fall under their power—governments clothed with the strange trappings and the primitive authority of an age that is altogether alien and hostile to our own. The past and the present are in deadly grapple and the peoples of the world are being done to death between them.

"There can be but one issue. The settlement must be final. There can be no compromise. No halfway decision would be tolerable. No halfway decision is conceivable. These are the ends for which the associated peoples of the world are fighting and which must be conceded them before there can be peace:

"First—The destruction of every arbitrary power anywhere that can separately, secretly, and of its single choice disturb the peace of the world; or, if it cannot be presently destroyed, at the least its reduction to a total impotence.

"Second—The settlement of every question, whether of territory, of sovereignty, of economic arrangement, or of political relationship, upon the basis of the free acceptance of that settlement by the people immediately concerned and not upon the basis of the material interest or advantage of any other nation or people which may desire a different settlement for the sake of its own exterior influence of mastery.

"Third—The consent of all nations to be governed in their conduct towards each other by the same principles of honor and of respect for the common law of civilized society that govern the individual citizens of all modern states in their relations with one another; to the end that all promises and covenants may be accordably observed, no private plots or conspiracies hatched, no selfish injuries wrought with impunity, and a mutual trust established upon the handsome foundation of a mutual respect for right.

"Fourth—The establishment of an organization of peace which shall make it certain that the combined power of free nations will check every invasion of right and serve to make peace and justice the more secure by affording a definite tribunal of opinion to which all must submit and by which every international readjustment that cannot be amicably agreed upon by the peoples directly concerned shall be sanctioned.

"These great objects can be put into a single sentence. What we seek is the reign of law, based upon the consent of the governed and sustained by the organized opinion of mankind.

"These great ends cannot be achieved by debating and seeking to reconcile and accommodate what statesmen may wish, with their projects for balances of power and of national opportunity. They can be realized only by the determination of what the thinking peoples of the world desire, with their longing hope for justice and for social freedom and opportunity.

"I can fancy that the air of this place carries the accents of such principles with a peculiar kindness. Here were started forces which the great nation against which they were primarily directed at first regarded as a revolt against its rightful authority, but which it has long since seen to have been a step in the liberation of its own people, as well as of the people of the United States; and I stand here now to speak—speak proudly and with confident hope—of the spread of this revolt, this liberation to the great stage of the world itself! The blinded rulers of Prussia have roused forces they knew little of—forces which, once aroused, can never be crushed to earth again; for they have at their heart an inspiration and a purpose which are deathless, and of the very stuff of triumph!"

Following the president's address Felix Streckmann of Chicago, a native Belgian and chairman of the committee of foreign nationalities, made public confession of the devotion of the foreign-born to the home of their adoption.

"With the spirit of Washington leading America entered the battle line and we entered with her," he declared. "The casualty lists of the war now, bringing sorrow to some homes and resolution to all, will be filled with strange names derived from foreign blood. We will never cease to struggle until freedom is secured for us and for our American sons and daughters."

A cloudless sky, with the heat of the sun tempered by a light breeze which swept over the historic Potomac and sang through the old oaks of Mt. Vernon, made the day ideal for a pilgrimage. The rolling banks of Virginia and Maryland, rich in mid-summer foliage, gave room to the peace and plenty which has made this country a haven of refuge for all nations, while the frequent passage of military and naval boats, the flutter of a hydroplane keeping watch in the air and the ways of a shipbuilding company at Old Alexandria, told of the activities necessary to place that peace plenty secure "for all time."

During the trip to and from Mount Vernon on the Mayflower, President Wilson had many intimate personal talks with the representatives of people who have left their native lands to find homes in America. Testing out sentiment, seeking opinions, he asked many questions, interjecting now and then a sharp phrase or two, then passing down the deck to another group—Czech-Slovaks, Chinese, Hungarians even Germans, for the natives of countries whose governments are American's enemies, were among the visitors to the shrine of freedom they have found in the new world.

President Wilson's personal party on the trip included Mrs. Wilson, Miss Margaret Wilson, Miss Helen Woodrow Boney and Rolfe Bolling, while the guests numbered among them Secretary Lansing, Attorney General Gregory, Postmaster General Burleson, the French ambassador, Jules J. Jusserand, the British ambassador, the Earl of Reading; other members of the diplomatic corps, Senator Martin of Virginia, John Barrett, director of the Pan-American Union, and John McCormack. An informal reception was held for the introduction of the guests immediately after the Mayflower sailed. President Wilson receiving, with Mrs. Wilson and Miss Wilson.

The informality of the trip down was abandoned at the landing. A fanfare of trumpets and the rattle of drums accompanied the president over the ride. He landed to find rigid lines of marines, tanned by long training and many of them wearing ribbons denoting several campaigns, drawn up as a guard of honor, while scores of others formed a wall up the gentle slope, through the woods to the tomb. Behind them stood thousands of persons who beset the restraining lines for a closer glimpse of the President and whose greetings for him literally made the hillside ring.

After the President and his party had taken their stand before the tomb he ordered that the marines be drawn in closer so that the persons without tickets of admission might better hear the exercises. When the marines moved up, the effect was like the sudden undamming of a great wall of water, the spectators being thrust down the rolling slopes by the pressure behind. For a moment it looked as if a tragedy would be caused by the trampling of the weaker, but the marines eluded with rifles held across their breasts and the flood was checked.

ADDRESS GIVEN GREAT PROMINENCE ABROAD

(Associated Press Correspondence.)

Paris, July 5.—President Wilson's Independence Day address at Mt. Vernon is printed with great prominence by all the newspapers. Some of them singled out special phrases to display as slogans in the heaviest type at the top of the front page. The amount of space devoted to recording the celebrations in France, England and America, averaging 10 to 12 columns, obliges most of the editorial writers to postpone until tomorrow comment on the speech.

In its comment the Petit Parisien says: "In soulful phrases President Wilson portrays the deep meaning of the anniversary which France celebrated yesterday with all the allies of the great American nation. The noble spirit which guides the destinies of the mighty trans-Atlantic republic disregards details. He dominates as from a height every situation, some times even the most obscure and most tragic and sees only the broad aspects which comfort and calm."

Story of a Statue.

One of the most admired treasures of art in Florence is Michael Angelo's youthful David. The shepherd stands with firm foothold, the stone grasped tightly in his right hand, ready to be sped on its errand. But the remarkable beauty of the statue is not the only thing that attracts attention. The statue has a story. A sculptor began work on the same piece of marble, but lacking skill he only hacked and chiseled the block. It was then cast aside, as a worthless thing. For years it lay in a backyard among the rubbish. At last Michael Angelo saw it, and at once perceived its possibilities. Under his skillful hand the stone became like a living thing, full of marvelous beauty.—Selected.

WILLIS GARBLES LETTERS WRITTEN BY. PROF. JOHNSON

(Ohio State Journal.)

Although ex-Governor Willis has given for publication what purported to be copies of the full correspondence in 1915 between himself and Professor W. H. Johnson of Granville, it promptly was disclosed by Professor Johnson that the ex-governor had omitted one entire letter and had seriously garbled what he (Professor Johnson) had written.

The Granville man declared the changes made him say the exact opposite of what he clearly intended. The garbling is manifested by the general context of the letter, he said, as well as by his repeated expressions in other communications.

There can be no doubt that the Willis men thought yesterday they had put one over on the newspapers and the public, through their failing to hand out all the letters in the correspondence and omission of the vital word "not" in a sentence, from which its absence is so marked that a schoolboy would notice it at once. To newspaper men, Willis leaders themselves, with appalling disingenuousness, referred to this particular sentence. It was apparent they had schemed to embarrass Professor Johnson and put him in a hole where he would have a lot of defensive explaining to do.

They knew he had no copies of his own letters. The exhibits were all in their hands, for they, of course, had what Willis wrote as well as the only existing copies of the Johnson communications.

Possessing all of the cards, they took from the deck those suited to their purposes and marked another for their own use, too.

However, a careful perusal of the letters the Willis men did make public proves the contentions made all along by Professor Johnson and the gabbling stands out so nakedly that Willis and not Johnson is put on the defensive to explain.

In his letter of July 26, 1915, Professor Johnson wrote the governor that he was "surprised and pained" to note that Willis favored establishing an embargo on munitions to the allies fighting Germany. Neither Germany nor Austria, he said, had contended it was illegal for neutrals to sell munitions to belligerents, in fact the central empires themselves had been glad to purchase arms from outside nations.

Professor Johnson then went on to say: "An embargo on the sale of arms under present conditions would, of course, have the effect of throwing a positive and enormous weight into the scale in favor of German, the recent lawless slayer of over 100 American citizens. (Reference is to the Lusitania disaster.) To do that would be of course, a direct repudiation of our official neutrality. It is possible that our government may yet be forced out of its position of official neutrality. If so, I venture the prophecy that it will NOT fall on the same side of the fence with Prussian militarism, the ravagers of Belgium, the slaughterers of the non-combatant men, women and children of the Lusitania, the proponents of theory that no law of God or man binds a nation at war as against any course of action that its self-determined "military necessity" seems to dictate.

The foregoing is what Professor Johnson says he wrote. Words, phrases and the general text all declare his opposition to the embargo on arms, favored by Willis, and his bitter and deep-seated aversion to German methods.

Yet, in this Johnson letter, as given out by Willis, Professor Johnson is put in the light of predicting that in the United States should get into the European war. It would support Germany. It was all done by omitting the word "not"—the United States "will fall on the same side of the fence with Prussian militarism, etc."

When this absurd irony was called to Professor Johnson's attention at Granville, he was not embarrassed, but resentful. He said:

"Of course, it is utterly inconsistent with the tenor of my letter. It's possible that in using my typewriter, I may not have included the word 'not,' before 'fall,' but I don't think I did. My meaning was so clear, I didn't intend to predict this country ever would take up the German side." The Johnson-Willis correspondence when corrected and made complete by Willis, will be published.

AMERICANS HAVE STRONG NERVES

Nervousness and Nerve Troubles on the Decline

"Nothing wrong but your nerves", is a saying that is fast dying out in this country. While nerve trouble is no organic disease, one of our leading nerve specialists remarked: "A man or woman might better break a leg than have a shattered nervous system."

Overwork and worry drains the nerve cells of their reserve strength and food, and then follows the sleepless night, indigestion, poor appetite, impure blood and general nervous breakdown.

The thing to do in such cases no longer troubles doctors and their patients who know from their own experience the value of Phosphated Iron. They know that a few weeks' regular use of this nerve food and red blood builder will strengthen and brace up the whole nervous system, because Phosphated Iron gives the tired, hungry, worn-out nerve cells phosphates and iron, in a form easily and quickly absorbed; as one happy user said: "You can almost feel it taking hold of the nerves and blood, after a short time you feel like a new person; life seems a pleasure and worth living once again."

In every section where Phosphated Iron has been used there has been a big decrease of nerve troubles and it will prove a welcome relief to any sufferer. You can bank on it for results—it's pure.

To insure physicians and their patients getting the genuine Phosphated Iron we have put up in capsules only, do not take pills or tablets. Insist on capsules.

dog in the wrong church.
This little incident might well have happened in one of those remote Welsh districts where sectarian differences still run on narrow and bitter lines. On a recent Sunday afternoon a nice-looking but too inquisitive dog wandered into one of our chapels, and, though gently driven forth, still, like Mary's lamb, he lingered near. He was in the porch when the worshippers came out, and one of these, the gentler sex, exclaimed, "Eh, what a bonny dog!" She patted his head, and then, with casual curiosity, looked at the name-plate on his collar.

"Why," she cried. "It's the vicar's—egad, out wi' him!" And the Anglican intruder got out promptly.—Cardiff Western Mail.

The Allotted Span.
This "allotted span" of life is, officially, threescore years and ten. We knew a doctor who declared that if we lived sensibly we should not die till we were 150. Unfortunately, however, we cannot refer you to this gentleman personally for his prescription, as he died a natural death two years ago, at the age of thirty-six.—London Tit-Bits.

ERASING THE "TELL-TALE" WRINKLES

This Good Looking Young Woman Advises the use of old time recipe of Butter-milk Cream in a New Way. A Gentle Massage With Fingers Before Retiring All That is Necessary.

Buttermilk and cream—Simple Remedies—Red—Keep—Are, Hands and Arms in Excellent Condition—Soft, Smooth and Beautiful.

The old-time application of Buttermilk and cream to the face and arms to remove blemishes and wrinkles and to give the complexion a soft, smooth and beautiful appearance is a common order. Buttermilk is just a common order. It is the form of a weak cream, gently massaged with the finger tips around the corners of the eyes and mouth.

PERSISTENCY ON FARM.

It takes a certain quality of dogged persistence to win success in the garden and on the farm. Raising crops is one long battle against the forces of nature. The man who is upset and disheartened by setbacks does not come through.

A farmer was speaking the other day of the reason why so many farmers lack success, and also why so many gardens of last year were partial failures. He illustrated his point by telling about two gardeners who were cultivating a large tract on some low ground near his place. It was exposed to frost, and one cool night after the plants had some start, the tract was badly nipped. One of the gardeners spent much time bewailing his hard luck, and clinging to the hope that the plants would yet revive and sprout up again.

The other was out the day after, and within two days he had planted new lines of seed all through the frost bitten rows. There was a chance that the stricken plants would come back, but he would not run the risk that they would not. Now his garden is coming along well, though a bit late, while the other gardener is still struggling with a half ruined crop.

Successful farmers have had to reckon on the fact that climate is very uncertain, that insect pests can not be estimated in advance, and that unexpected things happen. They must be ready to accept a loss cheerfully and repair it as best they may.

A man of this temperament stands a fair chance to make money in farming, because there so many men who cannot take temporary reverses in this spirit. A man of hopeful and persistent temperament comes out at the end of the season with a fair product in spite of mischances. If the season has been unfavorable he finds prices high, so that he takes in as much money as if conditions had been easy, and everyone had raised a big crop.

WAR FOR CIVILIZATION.

This war differs from our previous wars not merely in size. It also differs in that we are opposing an attempt to enslave and dishonor and force. In such a struggle as the American Civil war, both sides were sincerely fighting for law and justice as they honestly saw it.

In the present war, the leaders of the German people have deliberately violated treaties and torn up agreements. They have denied all standards of honor and decency. They make a treaty with the Russians one day, and tell the Russians that they favor a peace with no annexations and no indemnities. Then they go in and seize vast areas of Russian territory. They utterly disregard all promises, and eat their own words the next day.

About when will it be possible to make peace with a people that will do that? What would a treaty be worth that we should make with them? How long would they keep any agreement that they might make? As long as we keep an army in the field sufficient to enforce that treaty, and not one day longer.

If that principle is going to rule all the progress of 20 centuries has been for nothing. Ever since the dawn of history, men have been trying to build up standards of law and justice. They have built their civilization on the principle that men must keep agreements. If they won't do that, then civilization is rotten, all our progress is a lie, and our law is a fake.

If the Germans want war, we revert back to where the world was 1000 years before Christ. Even then there were some standard of honor. But if the Germans win, the world will be ruled by the nation having the biggest army. The Pacific is one who wants to let force and guns run this world.

The fighter of today is the man who wants the world ruled by law.

SUNDAY WORK ON FARM

It is quite right and proper to do farm work on Sunday if that Sunday work is necessary to produce food crops to help whip Germany. That is the attitude of the rural churches of Indiana, expressed recently in conference at Purdue University. The reason given for this position was the conviction of Indiana rural ministers that Germany is the worst enemy of civilization, and of every church of civilization—or all religion everywhere, that is worthy the name of religion; that the victory of the barbarous Huns would be literally the victory of the devil and the triumph of that pagan monstrosity created by the Kaiser's savage and sacrilegious mind and called by him "the good old German gott;" in short, that every church in America is fighting for existence, just as every other component of civilization is fighting for its existence, and that if Sunday work in saving crops will help overthrow this bestial menace it becomes—vertically a churchly work to do. This conference of the rural churches of Indiana was held at Purdue University under the auspices of the Department of Agricultural Extension.

SUFFRAGE AMENDMENT.

(Ohio State Journal.)
In speaking of the proposed suffrage amendment to the federal constitution, The New Republic says: The passage of the amendment is essential to the promotion of national unity during war. It is outrageous for men to impose so many civic services from them and then refuse them a political status. It is outrageous and it is hard to see how any intelligent man can tolerate the outrage. Both political parties, in their candid moments, have declared for woman suffrage. Then why should there be any surrender of these positions? The argument is as strong as ever, but a new influence has crept in to pervert the judgement, and many good people don't see it or they are recreant to the nobler purpose of their lives. We don't discuss details or argue with empty gossip—we only know that the defeat of suffrage is a blow at the moral aspirations of the day. Anybody who who does not simply want to argue.

Spirit of the Press

Send-Offs and Sobriety.
The disgraceful occurrence at Poplar Bluff, Mo., where some drafted men from St. Louis, on their way to Camp Pike, Ark., left the train and broke into saloons and raided restaurants, carrying off liquors and food, is traceable to a sort of "send-off" which tends toward excess. It is the usual thing for the men who make the rounds on their last day to be the recipients of a great deal of well-intentioned but ill-advised "treating." It is a matter of increasing concern to the ward boards. If there is a day in a man's life when he ought to strive to keep sober, and be encouraged to keep sober, it is the day on which he leaves home to enter his country's service.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

A Universal Language.
There is much to commend in the suggestion of a writer that English be made the universal language particularly at this time when thought is turning to the importance of a common tongue. English already is the day one which will be able to measure up to it as a candidate for a universal language.—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Italy.
Yes, it is true that bread east upon the waters returned. Italy is repaid for her sister Allies for the men and money loaned her last year when combined German and Austrian armies thrust her back to the Piave and threatened her with the fate of Serbia and Belgium. Then it was that Britain and France hurried men in to the breach beyond the Alps, and America sent food and loaned money for munitions. It would have been a deep thrust into the heart of the Allied cause if Austria legions now overran Italy and German hordes stand ready for other thrusts at Paris and the Channel ports.—Washington Herald.

The Hun's Last Card.
That German desperate activity in Italy has desired to postpone the hour of defeat is evident. It is manifest that the plan of the German war lord is to straighten out the line, and by using the new front as a base to start a new offensive repeat the operation. However, the German hordes are now vanishing American help of munition gathered from prisoners was quite very much under estimated in Germany but now greatly worries the German high command. The speed and activity of the Americans astonish the Huns.—New York Herald.

It's a good plan to begin right, but a worse plan to begin wrong.

A GERMAN PEACE.

(Philadelphia Record.)

If anybody wants to know what a German peace is, let him look at Russia. If any one would know whether Germany can be bound by any agreement or compact or oath, let him look at Russia. If one wishes to know whether the German foreign policy is directed by the foreign office or by the general staff, let him look at Russia.

Peace between Germany and Russia was nominally concluded six months ago. Since that time the German armies have been advancing into Russia, capturing towns, and shooting everybody who resisted. They dismembered the Russian empire, and then established their own military governments in the fragments. The Baltic provinces are ostensibly independent; they have been merely taken from Russia and annexed to Germany. Germany made a treaty of peace with the Ukraine, then established a military administration there, and finally its army reached Odessa, and the latest development is the surrender of the Russian Black Sea fleet.

Germany is ostensibly at peace with Russia. As a matter of fact, a Russian army is advancing along the Murmansk coast toward Kola, Russia's one ice-free port in Europe. By the so-called treaty of peace Russia was required to cede the Caucasus region to Turkey. Tiflis, the capital of the region, then, is either Russian or Turkish. But a German army has just turned up there.

In other words, a "German peace" is a German conquest. Germany is entering into a treaty of peace merely as a piece of treachery to induce its enemy to lay down his arms under the impression that the war is over. And when he has laid down his arms, and become quite helpless, the German armies complete their conquest. No contract or treaty or agreement binds Germany in the case of a country that has laid down its arms and demolished its army. Wherefore, the allies have got to push this war until Germany is incapable of doing any more harm. Germany's agreement not to do any more harm is worthless. Its promises are as false as "dicers' oaths."

We can't help Russia unless Russia will resist Germany. Russia has become an ally of Germany, or is conquered territory. Until the Russians will resist Germany, Russia is enemy territory.

THE HIDDEN HAND.

(Detroit Journal.)

Throughout the war, people in Great Britain have suspected that Germany retained an influence in their country. They saw it in the special consideration given to certain prisoners of war, in delays in the winding up of the affairs of German banks, in the leakage of military secrets, in the fact that smuggling of rubber and other articles to Germany through Holland has not been broken up until it became a notorious scandal.

At last public indignation has brought the matter to a showdown. Lloyd George himself has promised to make a personal investigation of what is known in Britain as the "Hidden Hand." He has been called upon further to inquire as to whether any sinister influence held England back in adopting reprisals against German aerial raids and atrocities at sea.

If England, so much nearer the war than we are, so much more deeply committed to the war than we have yet been, fears that German wires are working in that land, there is every reason to believe that America has not fully succeeded in mastering German influences which we all know were implanted in this country. It is remembered that Germany sent over a horde of agents immediately that she went to war. Are they gone? It is remembered that not until recently was a flagrant pro-German periodical removed from the newsstands, and it is to be observed that it still has the privilege of the mails. How has it obtained its immunity? What was it postposed the investigation of La Follette? How does it happen that a western political organization tainted with disloyalty flourishes without opposition? With none of these affairs may German influence be involved. But they look exceedingly bad in a country which is spending its treasure and spilling its blood to crush kaiserism.

Suspicion toward everything of Prussian appearance is warranted. It is justified by the common knowledge of the way Germany does things in this world. It becomes the public to maintain the most hostile of attitudes toward indications of Prussianism. The value of it lies in the people of Britain have done, whenever it shall appear that a "Hidden Hand" is serving the kaiser's ends.

VACATION SERVICE.

(Chicago Post.)

What are you going to do in order to make your vacation count in your country's service?

We know one Chicago lawyer who has procured a movie-picture machine, obtained United States government war films, and will spend his "holidays" traveling from one small town to another giving illustrated lectures. He is fitted for that sort of work; but all of us are not. The Association of Commerce is co-operating with the State Council of Professors in enlisting vacation workers for Illinois farms. There are thousands of men in the business and professional life of Chicago who began life on the farm. They know enough about farm work to make themselves mighty useful in these days of scarce labor. "Back to the farm" is a vacation cry that means invaluable help to the country and invaluable help to life and health for themselves.

Nowhere this side of the trenches is the need greater. Within the last few weeks 8,000 men have been called to the colors from the farms of Illinois; 8,000 more will be called. The state is facing the heaviest harvest in its history. It needs at least 20,000 men to gather it in. This harvest means victory. It is as important as shells and guns and airplanes.

If your arteries are getting a little sluggish, your girth a little flabby, here is the chance to grow young again in the service of your country. Hundreds of men have already answered the call—men from the sedentary life of the office, doctors, lawyers, bankers, brokers. The terms are $2 to $3 a day for ordinary farm labor and $3.50 to $4.50 a day for harvest work, with board and lodging furnished. The vacation farm labor committee of the Association of Commerce will see that you are placed in a job suited to experience and capacity. Write it for full particulars. No man can afford to take a vacation that does not help in a way to win the war.

WASHINGTON GLADDEN.

(Pittsburg Gazette-Times.)

The passing of the Rev. Dr. Washington Gladden at his home in Columbus, full of years and full of honors, will be noted throughout the land, while in the east his splendid character, Christian leadership, and scholarly attainments will be acknowledged generally in pulpit and press. Dr. Gladden reached a position of prominence in three fields, the ministry, authorship and editing, and by his original thought on a number of public questions achieved a reputation that broke the bounds of his field as pastor of the First Congregational church of Columbus, O. He was always strong, always to be heard from, and while persons might not agree with him, they usually had to admit his great force.

Like so many other men born about the same time who made names for themselves, Dr. Gladden learned the printing trade, and began to write "pieces for the paper" naturally, for the editor of a paper then was usually his own compositor; Benjamin Franklin was not the only one who set his efforts in type as he composed them. From this early experience on the Oswego (N. Y.) Gazette, Dr. Gladden received the literary bent that shaped his whole life, compelling expression even when he was taken up with the exacting duties of important positions. It was during his years of service in Columbus that he became widely known outside of purely clerical and literary circles and in this part of the country his personal friends and war admirers were perhaps more numerous than in New England where he began his career. Dr. Gladden's was a long and extremely useful life, admirably and typically American.

Pointed Observations

As for the Bolsheviks, they may be brothers of Eugene Debs, but they ain't no brother of ours.—Macon Telegraph.

In the expected contest between the government and the Pullman porter we are placing our money on the porter.—Los Angeles Times.

Trotzky removes the last vestige of doubt as to his being a German agent in the attempt to prevent Czech-Slovak troops traveling to Vladivostok to join the allies while at the same time permitting German prisoners to go back and fight for the kaiser on the west front.—San Francisco Chronicle.

The pewter trophy bestowed by Hun Hohenzollern upon American yachtsmen is nothing to the gold brick he handed his own people.—Washington Post.

"Mental collapse hits Hindenburg." That's a new way of phrasing it. The Hindenburg "mug" gives denial, however. Too much brandy and beer in combination looks more like it.—Rocky Mountain News.

Another German excuse is that the Kaiser told Hindenburg his health was too delicate to permit of indulgence in a Paris dinner celebration.—Atlanta Constitution.

Enemy agents who are trying to make trouble by representing that negro soldiers are put in the most dangerous posts on the battlefield show their ignorance of negro character and loyalty. According to General Pershing, "the only regret expressed by colored troops is that they are not given more dangerous work to do."—New York World.

To Our Soldier Boy.
By Irene Needham, Pataskala, O.
The dear little birds that sing in the breeze
The beautiful flowers that sway in the breeze
Are saying today, as you sail o'er the sea,
Good-bye, good luck and good-bless you!

The sun shines bright in the sky all day,
The moon and the stars, with each silvery ray,
All join in the chorus, seemingly say:
Good-bye, good luck and good-bless you!

Our hearts are weary with longing and fear,
Our tired eyes are heavy an' doft comes wear,
Yet, too, must say, with fond hope and good cheer:
Good-bye, good luck and good-bless you!
